

Restaurant Borgholm

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 14 April 2010 09:42 - Last Updated Wednesday, 10 April 2019 22:54

Welcome to The restaurant Robinson Crusoe was founded by Birgitta Jeansson in 1974. The name is taken from the book called Robinson Crusoe which she used to read for her children. Birgitta liked the name because most people knows about Daniel Defoes shipbroken character. Most people can also pronounce the name of the restaurant in their mother tounge. The popular and beautiful restaurant is located by the sea in the harbour of Borgholm.

Already from the start there were long queues of interested people who wanted to try the new menu. The food had a reputation of being spiced differently. When the restaurant started in the seventies it wasn't common to use garlic and tarragon. The different way of making the food gave Robinson Crusoe an exotic reputation.

The environment is cosy and there are many items in the restaurant from exotic places in the world.

Welcome to explore the menu at Robinson Crusoe.